TRAINER: Routes (250 .16 $1.44) Stakes (120 .15 $1.48)

- In the eyes of Dewolf's two-time King's Plate-winning trainer Kevin Attard, the dark brown Silent Name colt has yet to flash his full potential on race days. "Dewolf has been a little frustrating this season," said Attard. "He has trained brilliantly, and we are still waiting for him to run to his training."
- Dewolf's path to the 166th King's Plate started with a third in the Queenston Stakes on June 8 at Woodbine and continued with a sixth in the Plate Trial Stakes, also at Woodbine, on July 20. "His effort in the Plate Trial was okay," offered Attard. "He was shuffled back in the race, but I can't say for sure how much of an impact that had on where he finished. The good thing was that he came out of the race in great shape."
- In good form ahead of the main event, Attard believes the $185,000 purchase at the 2023 Keeneland September Yearling Sale has all the tools to be a successful racehorse. "The Plate is all about a horse being able to put it all together at the right moment. We have always liked this horse and believe he has the foundation to be a good one."
- Attard is confident in Dewolf's ability to stretch out from 1 1/8 miles in the Plate Trial to 1 1/4 miles for the million-dollar Plate. "We don't have any reason to believe he can't get the distance. Hopefully, this is the day we see his best – he gets a clean trip and can capitalize on it."
