Reminder transition period ending: Trainers to Report all Current Stabling Location(s)

The 30-day transition period for trainers to update their licences and come into compliance with the new stabling location reporting requirement will be ending July 5, 2023. Violations will result in a minimum $300 monetary penalty, absent exceptional circumstances.

The Alcohol and Gaming Commission of Ontario (AGCO) is requiring licensed trainers to report all stabling location(s) they operate under their licence, including any location changes to the Registrar within five (5) days. Trainers will be required to submit all of their stabling location(s) but are not required to identify where each individual horse is stabled.

Licensed trainers will be able to update the stabling location(s) through the iAGCO online portal.

To further support licencees with this new provision, the AGCO has developed the following resource:
