#3 Perfect Forest 8-1 ML – and shout out to #11 Callyoubackinfive

Well, to be clear, Callyoubackinfive was my pick when he debuted, and I think he could totally get the job done here in start two on the drop and with experience. IN that first start, which was an MOC40, he kinda bumped out of the gate and was green in the stretch – took a lot of ask to get that boy to change leads. That typed, he’s only 5-2 on the ML and with a wide draw on top of it... So, as an alternative, looking at Perfect Forest as a potential upsetter – he’s getting first time blinkers and a weight allowance today, as he drops in from a 7f Moc25 wherein he showed some early interest before tiring out of contention. The race produced two next out winners, both at the Moc25 level, in the third placed Cornwall, and the 5th placed Valyrian Sky, whose race is one a few of these exit.
